

Job title:

Professor Positions at Medical Research Institute of Wuhan University

Summary:

The Medical Research Institute at Wuhan University in China invites applications for 30 faculty positions at full professor level in the fields of biomedical sciences.

Full description:

The newly founded institute at Wuhan University in China, the Medical Research Institute (MRI), invites applications for 30 principle investigator positions at full professor level. All fields in biomedical sciences, such as microbiology, immunology, neurobiology, cancer biology, cell and molecular biology, developmental biology, and cardiovascular and metabolic diseases, will be considered. The applicants must have a PhD or MD and successful postdoctoral experience. We offer internationally competitive recruitment packages. The applicants should submit a full cv, a research statement and contact information of three referees as a single PDF file to Dr. Hong-Bing Shu, director, email: shuoffice@whu.edu.cn.

Salary description:

Competitive salary based on qualifications/experience

Discipline:

Life Sciences, Health Sciences

Position Type:

Full Time

Job Type:

Faculty, Group Leader/Principal Investigator

Application method:

Send an email to the job contact

Contact email:

shuoffice@whu.edu.cn (applications are emailed to this address)